The Foodservice Suppliers Association (FSAA) has a strategic alliance with the Australian Culinary Federation (ACF). This is to provide a mutually beneficial relationship in the best interests of each other's members and the broader industry.

The ACF is looking to adjust its business model to a single national entity from one with multiple chapters. We believe this is a positive move in that it will consolidate the processes and procedures under one banner, delivering clarity for members, partners, and all participants in the foodservice market.

As the official body representing Australia to the World Association of Chefs Societies (WACS) it will also allow for quicker decision-making, negotiation of sponsorships and initiation of activities and services to grow the skills and knowledge of professionals in the cooking crafts.

We wish them every success in their endeavours.

Yours Truly,
